45th ANNUAL SCIENTIFIC MEETING

SUNDAY 20 MAY TO WEDNESDAY 23 MAY 2012
BRISBANE CONVENTION AND EXHIBITION CENTRE
BRISBANE, QUEENSLAND, AUSTRALIA

PROGRAM
I am delighted to welcome all our delegates to what is a special event for us, being two consecutive meetings: the 3rd World Congress of Dermoscopy which is being held for the first time south of the Equator; and the 45th Annual Scientific Meeting of College.

We are very pleased that both of these important conferences should be held in Brisbane, the capital city of Australia’s economic boom state, Queensland, and the gateway to the tropical north of Australia.

Brisbane is a tangible and dynamic expression of the benefits of the economic development which is driving northern Australia. We are proud that the meetings enable us to showcase Australia’s fastest growing city to the rest of Australia and to our overseas visitors.

I would like to express our appreciation to the Queensland State Faculty of College as hosts of the meeting, and in particular to, Dr Jason Wu and Dr Greg Butler, who are the co-convenors of the Annual Scientific Meeting. With the solid support of Dr Cathy Reid, our Honorary Secretary and Chair of the Scientific Meetings Steering Committee, they have organised an excellent program on our behalf.

All dermatologists will find many topics of interest in the conference’s scientific program. I am particularly delighted to be able to welcome our overseas speakers. These include: Dr David Cohen from the New York University who is Vice Chair for Clinical Affairs and Director of Occupational, Environmental and Allergic Dermatology within his university. Professor Theodore Rosen from Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, Texas, who will speak on a variety of exotic cutaneous infections. We also welcome Professor Lorenzo Cerroni, Associate Professor of Dermatology at the Medical University of Graz, Austria, who is both a dermatologist and dermatopathologist with a variety of special interests; and Dr Stephen Jones from the Department of Dermatology at Clatterbridge Hospital in the United Kingdom, who has interests in connective tissue diseases, paediatric dermatology and skin cancer. He has expertise on medical, academic and political developments in the United Kingdom.
I also welcome our sponsored speakers who include:

- Professor J. Stuart Nelson, who is Medical Director of the Beckman Laser Institute and Medical Clinic as well as Professor of Surgery, Dermatology and Biomedical Engineering at the University of California, Irvine. Professor Nelson’s participation in the meeting is made possible by an unconditional grant to College by Candela.

- Professor Darrell Rigel, Clinical Professor of Dermatology in New York University. Professor Rigel’s participation in the meeting is made possible by an unconditional grant to College by Neutrogena.

- Professor Thomas Luger, Chairman, Department of Dermatology and Director, Institute of Cell Biology and Immunology, University of Munster, Germany. Professor Luger’s participation in the meeting is made possible by an unconditional grant to College by Inviva.

- Dr Antonio Campo-Voegli, dermatologist and vascular specialist of Barcelona, Spain. Dr Campo-Voegli’s participation in the meeting is made possible by an unconditional grant to College by Cutera.

Associated with the meeting there will be special events of particular interest. These include a workshop on: Certificate IV in Workplace Training and Assessment being held for College Fellows; and the 11th Annual Conference of the Australian Dermatology Nurses’ Association.

We are particularly honoured to have as the John Reid Orator at the Conferring Ceremony on Sunday 20 May 2012, Her Excellency, the Governor of Queensland, Penelope Wensley, AC. Her Excellency is a distinguished Queenslander with a particular interest in women’s issues. She previously served overseas as an outstanding diplomatic representative of Australia.

The Conferring Ceremony is when we will formerly recognise new Fellows and present awards to Fellows who have provided outstanding service to College.

As usual, we have strong support for the meeting from industry, both as exhibitors and sponsors. It is heartening that even in times of economic downturn; our conferences are strongly supported by our industry partners. The Annual Scientific Meeting presents a special opportunity for a wide range of suppliers to display their latest products and services to dermatologists. I invite all delegates to take the time to visit the displays in the exhibition and learn about the latest developments in products and service. The College is proud of the co-operation and support we receive from industry partners in ensuring that our patients are offered optimum management with the latest advances in medical and surgical treatment.

I especially wish to thank our sponsors who are listed in this program for their generous support of this important meeting.

I hope that all delegates will have a most successful and enjoyable meeting.

1545-1730  Botox Workshop
Great Hall 2 (entry via Door 3 on Foyer Level or Door 8 on Mezzanine Level)
Chair: A/Prof. G. Goodman

Medicare has recently announced an item number for the treatment of axillary hyperhidrosis. Dermatologists will be permitted to use it and provide a rebate for their patients. However Medicare requires each dermatologist to observe 20 procedures and to keep a log of these Botox treatments. They will then be required to be observed performing 10 treatments themselves. We understand that this decision is modelled on the use of Botox and Dysport for other medical uses such as torticollis, spasticity, etc. As Allergan is the only company which made a submission, Botox is the only product which is covered.

Medicare has permitted Allergan to nominate only a few College Fellows as trainers, based on members who either run hyperhidrosis clinics or who are experienced in hyperhidrosis training and treatments. They will be permitted to train other Fellows. The benefit is clearly the use of Botox for hyperhidrosis, which will be principally limited to dermatologists.

Skin cancer rates are rising worldwide and UV exposure is the primary inciting cause. Regular use of sunscreen has been shown to lower melanoma and non-melanoma skin cancer risk and additional decrease in risk is provided through protective clothing and avoiding the midday sun when the UV intensity is greatest.

Effective UV protection during recreational activities can be challenging given the fact that these activities often occur in high insolation environments and during midday hours. Studies have shown that in a variety of sports, sun protection has been less than optimal leading to potential increase skin cancer risk. Also, cosmetic acceptability of the sunscreen formulations used in recreational settings can be a factor as thicker and less water resistant forms can lead to under usage.

Newer sunscreen formulations may be more effective in providing better UV protection in these recreational environments. In addition, educational opportunities exist to teach those participating in these activities regarding more efficient and protective behavioural measures.

Join the AAA team for a round-up of all things acne. The session will be light on powerpoints and presentations, but heavy on panels and participation. There’ll be the topics that got us talking, the studies that struck a chord and the cases that caused a conundrum. The panel members may peruse and ponder, but the floor will have the final say. So if you’re after discussion, debates or just a debrief on acne - head to this breakfast. It’s all about acne!
