Dear colleagues and friends,

On behalf of the organizing committee of the annual meeting of Korean Society for Investigative Dermatology (KSID), it is our great pleasure to invite you to the 26th KSID Annual Meeting on March 25 (Fri)-26 (Sat), 2016.

This meeting has been organized to provide the participants with an excellent scientific program, aiming at communicating leading-edge research on ‘Pigmentation’, ‘Hedgehog signaling in skin tumors’, ‘Wound healing and Scars’, ‘Immunity’, ‘Epidermal structure and barrier function’, and ‘Matrix biology including galectins’. Our honored guests for this year’s session will be Prof. Mauro Picardo (Italy), Prof. Anthony Oro (USA), Prof. Fu-Tong Liu (Taiwan), Prof. Rei Ogawa (Japan), Prof. Setsuya Aiba (Japan) and eminent Korean scientists. They will offer new, professional knowledge in their specialized fields.

I would like to appreciate all the members of KSID organizing committee for their great effort in setting up this wonderful meeting. And we also thank all the participants who will graciously show their best research to fellow colleagues and have a passionate discussion. We hope that all of you will have chance to exchange ideas, maximize your learning outcome, and get inspiration from the best in that field. And it will be a great opportunity to foster your friendship between participants.

We anticipate seeing many of you at the 26th KSID meeting in March 2016. Thank you.
